Ser Jacopo Churchwarden Fuma A Pipe – Elegance and Tradition

The Ser Jacopo Fuma A in the Churchwarden style is a smoking instrument that evokes the charm of a bygone era, crafted with the renowned skill of the Pesaro school. Featuring a slender silhouette and a Full Bent curvature, this pipe is the premier choice for those who view slow smoking as a ritual of pure relaxation and contemplation.

The Historic Appeal of the Churchwarden

Churchwarden pipes, also known as "reading pipes," boast a history spanning centuries. Popular as far back as the 18th century, they owe their name to the churchwardens who favored them: the exceptional length of the stem allowed them to smoke comfortably while keeping the bowl away from their faces, making it easier to read sacred texts or rest the pipe beyond a windowsill.

Today, this shape is prized for an undeniable technical advantage: the long smoke path provides natural cooling*, resulting in an exceptionally fresh smoke and significantly reducing tongue bite.*

Technical Specifications: Fuma A Model

- Pot Bowl: The pipe head features a "Pot" shape, characterized by thick walls and a wide diameter. This geometry is ideal for optimal heat management, protecting the briar and ensuring thermal consistency.
- Capacity and Boring: In line with the model's substantial dimensions, the bowl is very spacious with a masterfully executed cylindrical boring. This allows for easy loading and a steady, even burn.
- The Stem: Crafted from high-quality black acrylic*, the mouthpiece is designed to stand the test of time without oxidizing, maintaining its deep luster and providing superior comfort despite the extended length of the shank.*

The Smoking Experience

Given its Full Bent nature, the Ser Jacopo Churchwarden offers perfect balance. It is a pipe designed for home sessions: its configuration allows you to read, write, or converse while keeping your line of sight clear of smoke, turning every break into a complete sensory experience.
