Product Description: Radice Rind Pipe – Dublin Shape (46)

Part of the Rind series by Radice, this artisanal interpretation of the classic Dublin shape stands out for its bold character and a modern aesthetic deeply rooted in the traditions of the Varese pipe-making school.

Technical Features and Design

The pipe features a balanced half-bent silhouette, distinguished by a spacious bowl with a slightly conical internal bore. This specific internal geometry is engineered to promote a consistent burn and an optimal aromatic progression throughout the smoke.

The chromatic contrast is the defining aesthetic element of this piece:

- Body: A deep, textured rustic finish in a dark mahogany hue with subtle red undertones covering the bowl and the shank.
- Rim: The top of the bowl is flat and left smooth, featuring a natural light finish that highlights the premium quality of the briar.
- Stem: Crafted from high-grade black acrylic, designed for long-lasting comfort and durability.

This model is a recent production, as evidenced by the "46" stamping, indicating the production year 2026. This numbering celebrates the 46th anniversary of the Radice workshop, founded in 1980, confirming the continuity and evolution of a historic name in Italian pipe making.
