Ser Jacopo R1 Pipe – Canted Apple with Light Rustication

The Ser Jacopo R1 is a perfect example of how the Pesaro school reinterprets classic shapes through a contemporary lens. Classified as R1 for its expertly crafted rusticated finish, this pipe stands out for its modern and compact design, engineered to offer a dynamic smoking experience without sacrificing the brand's signature elegance.

Design and Geometry: The Canted Apple

This model revisits the traditional straight Apple shape, introducing a significant technical detail: the bowl is slightly tilted forward (canted). This specific geometry not only provides a sleeker, more aggressive silhouette but also significantly improves ergonomics while holding the pipe.

- Spacious Chamber: Despite its compact profile, the head houses a generous bowl with precise cylindrical boring. This constructive precision ensures an even burn and consistent heat management.
- Light Rustication: The finish features a shallow rustication that enhances the texture of the briar. Beyond its aesthetic appeal, this textured surface offers a secure grip and superior heat dissipation, making the pipe ideal for outdoor smoking.

Comfort and Materials

The technical hardware is completed by a mouthpiece designed for maximum daily comfort:

- Tapered Fish Tail Stem: Crafted from high-grade black acrylic, the stem features a tapered profile ending in a subtle fish tail bit. This shape allows for a natural position between the teeth, distributing smoke evenly across the palate.
- Practicality: Thanks to its balanced weight and clean lines, this pipe is the perfect companion for those who enjoy smoking outdoors, whether during a walk or while traveling, providing both durability and style.
