Radice Rind Pipe (2026) - Artisan Billiard with Candle-Wax Effect

Crafted in 2026, this Radice Rind pipe represents a free and contemporary interpretation of the classic Billiard shape.

Aesthetics

The body of the pipe features a character-filled semi-rusticated finish, dominated by a deep, jet-black rustication.

- The Rim Contrast: The top of the bowl and the rim have been left in their light, natural color, creating a striking contrast with the black body.
- The Craftsmanship: A partial, carefully calibrated rustication on this lighter area perfectly mimics the look of dripping candle wax, lending a remarkable visual dynamism to the pipe.

Chromatic and Structural Weighting of the Shank

Another standout detail lies in the design of the shank, engineered to visually lighten the pipe's overall silhouette through a clever interplay of shapes and finishes:

- The Base: The bottom of the shank is completely flat, smooth, and finished in a natural stain. This design choice creates a beautiful chromatic bridge with the top of the bowl.
- The Sides and Top: Conversely, the top and sides of the shank are rounded, rusticated, and stained black, blending seamlessly into the main body of the pipe.

The entire piece is beautifully finished with a sleek, clean black acrylic stem.

Chamber Geometry and Architecture

From a strictly technical standpoint, this pipe is engineered to deliver a highly satisfying smoking experience:

- Generous Capacity: Relative to the overall size of the pipe, the bowl boasts a rather abundant capacity, making it ideal for extended smoking sessions.
- Chamber Bore: The internal chamber bore is slightly conical—an architecture that promotes a consistently steady draw and an excellent concentration of tobacco flavors right down to the final ember.
