Dunhill The White Spot Bruyere 2102 Pipe - Small Bent (2025 Production)

Portable Elegance and British Tradition

The Dunhill The White Spot pipe, model 2102, is a refined interpretation of the small Bent shape, designed for those seeking a compact yet highly prestigious smoking instrument. Produced in the year 2025, this piece embodies the London house's philosophy: offering a travel or pocket pipe to be carried with utmost elegance, without ever compromising on the technical quality of the smoke.

The Bruyere Finish: The History of the Classic Dunhill

The Bruyere finish is the true historical pillar of Dunhill's production. Originally introduced in 1910 by Alfred Dunhill to distinguish his creations from the inexpensive pipes of the era, this finish was the very first to bring global fame to the brand.

This specific workmanship is characterized by:

- Selected Briar: Only smooth briar of exceptional density and free of imperfections is utilized.
- Deep Coloration: The distinctive dark hue—a deep burgundy red leaning toward brown—is achieved through a meticulous layering process that enhances the wood's natural grain.
- Brilliant Finish: An impeccable polish that gives the pipe a silky, long-lasting luster.

Technical Features and Components

- The Bowl: Surprisingly capacious when compared to the pipe's compact size, it allows for a generous tobacco pack suitable for medium-length smokes. The internal chamber features a strictly cylindrical drilling.
- The Stem: Crafted from classic black ebonite, it features a tapered line that finishes with a subtle fishtail design. This flat and comfortable shape on the bite improves ergonomics and the pipe's overall stability in the mouth.
- The Mark of Authenticity: As with every creation from this manufacture, the iconic White Spot is seamlessly inset into the stem.

The 2025 Dunhill Bruyere 2102 is dedicated to the dynamic smoker who refuses to compromise on style. Its lightweight, curved silhouette reduces jaw strain, making it the ideal companion for reading or enjoying a walk.
