Valbruna Artisan Pipe, crafted by pipemaker Simone Gaudenzi, Liscia Chiara 3 Jellyfish classification.

Architecture of Forms: Octagonal Bowl and Hexagonal Shank

The visual impact of this medium-to-large-sized fully curved (full bent) model is driven by bold sculptural choices and extraordinary precision:

- The Octagonal Bowl: The bowl is developed on a faceted, eight-sided structure. A rigorous and imposing geometry that gives the pipe a strong personality and a solid, tactile presence.

- The Hexagonal Shank: In perfect dialogue with the bowl, the shank features a six-sided section—a complex technical process that requires millimetric symmetry to blend fluidly into the overall curvature.
- The Rim (Bark Top): The natural plateau or crust of the briar (bark top) has been intentionally preserved on the upper rim of the generous bowl. This detail creates a fascinating, asymmetrical contrast between the clean, smooth facets and the organic origin of the block.

Chromatic Transparency and the "3 Jellyfish" Grade

The Liscia Chiara (Smooth Light) classification reflects the desire to emphasize the absolute purity of the briar. The coloration, deliberately kept natural, allows the wood itself to tell its story.

A dense and regular straight grain entirely wraps around the walls of the large bowl, rising vertically along the octagonal faces—a visual detail of the highest quality that justifies the assignment of the 3 Jellyfish, the symbol with which Gaudenzi certifies his most successful pieces in terms of aesthetics and grain quality.

Technical Details and Chamber:

- The Chamber: The decidedly generous bowl features a slightly conical internal drilling. This configuration optimizes the draw and guarantees a constant, uniform tobacco combustion from the first light to the very end.
- The Stem: Entirely crafted from high-gloss black acrylic to ensure color stability over time, it follows the full bent silhouette and hosts the characteristic silver insert depicting the jellyfish (medusa) on top—the iconic signature of the Valbruna brand.

The Valbruna 3 Jellyfish Liscia Chiara is a monumental pipe that stands halfway between an elite smoking instrument and a geometric sculpture.
