Valbruna Pipe: Freehand Canted Egg Sandblasted

This artisanal pipe, crafted by Simone Gaudenzi for the Valbruna brand, follows in the tradition of the renowned Pesaro school. This school is historically recognized for its ability to balance the rigor of classic shapes with a freer, more contemporary stylistic approach, contributing significantly to the evolution of pipe design in Italy.

Technical Characteristics and Design

characterized by a slender silhouette that leans toward a chimney geometry. The structure, finished with a straight sandblast that highlights the natural grain of the briar, offers a pleasant tactile feel and optimal heat management during the smoke.

A detail of particular design interest is the flattened base of the bowl. This technical solution allows the pipe to stand independently on flat surfaces, ensuring practicality without compromising the aesthetic harmony of the line.
