L'Anatra dalle Uova d'Oro Pipe - Rusticata Bent Chubby Acorn

The artisanal workshop L'Anatra dalle Uova d'Oro from Pesaro is renowned for the creativity of its shapes and the sturdiness of its creations. This model, part of the Rusticata classification, reinterprets the classic Acorn shape in a bent Chubby variant, characterized by thick and compact proportions that make it ideal for lovers of robust pipes with a reduced longitudinal footprint.

Craftsmanship and Outdoor Performance

The pipe stands out for its uniform rustication, skillfully carved by hand onto the briar surface. Beyond providing a textured and natural look, this finish offers a firm, secure grip and excellent heat dissipation.

Thanks to its compact overall dimensions and the intrinsic solid thickness of the bowl walls, this pipe proves to be the ideal companion for outdoor smoking and excursions. It can be easily carried in a pocket or backpack without fear of damaging its lines, offering maximum reliability even in dynamic settings or open-air environments.

Architecture and Internal Engineering

- Bowl: The medium-sized head houses a combustion chamber of medium capacity, suitable for standard smoking sessions with various types of tobacco blends.
- Drilling: The internal engineering features a cylindrical drilling that becomes slightly conical at the bottom.
- Stem: Crafted from high-gloss black acrylic, the stem is short and solid, in perfect balance with the "Chubby" style of the shank. The end features a subtle fishtail lip to ensure comfortable and stable positioning between the teeth.
