Radice Silk Cut Pipe - Bent Dublin with Floral Detail

Part of the Silk Cut line, this specific model—a medium-sized bent Dublin—represents an excellent balance between wall thickness and overall proportion, making it ideal for those seeking a cool smoke and a solid feel in the hand.

Technical Features and Geometry

This pipe was shaped with both technical performance and user comfort in mind. The robust walls of the bowl ensure optimal heat dissipation, while the medium-capacity chamber features a slightly conical drilling.

- Brand: Radice (Handmade in Cucciago, Italy)
- Model: Bent Dublin (Medium size)
- Finish: Silk Cut (Sandblasted)
- Chamber: Conical, medium capacity

Premium Details and Color Contrasts

The aesthetic appeal of this piece stands out due to a refined interplay of contrasts and geometric craftsmanship:

- The Shank and the Floral Cut: The true distinctive feature lies in the end of the shank. The rim has been intentionally shaped with an irregular profile, reminiscent of a floral pattern. This section is left smooth and in a natural briar finish, creating a sharp visual contrast with the deep, red-stained sandblast that covers the rest of the stummel.
- The Stem: Crafted from acrylic, the stem is shaped to offer the visual impression of an army mount. Technically, however, it fits into the shank via a traditional tenon, ensuring a flush and secure fit.

Every Radice pipe is a unique piece, entirely handmade in the Cucciago workshop.
