Bisonte Handmade Pipe by Michele Pascolini - Black Sandblasted Freehand

Handcrafted in Italy by Michele Pascolini for the Bisonte brand, this pipe embodies a thoughtful balance of functionality, sculptural aesthetics, and traditional craftsmanship.

This model features a generously sized Freehand shape with a straight configuration, distinguished by a spacious tobacco chamber drilled cylindrically to promote an even burn and a comfortable smoking experience. The rim has been left smooth and finished with an Easy Load design, facilitating tobacco packing while creating an attractive textural contrast with the rest of the bowl.

The stem is handcrafted from solid black ebonite rod stock, ensuring precision, durability, and excellent comfort in use.

The finish is a delicate sandblast with a refined silky texture, presented in an elegant matte black color that highlights the quality of the briar while preserving its natural character. Particularly noteworthy is the flowing movement of curves sculpted into the bowl, a detail that reflects Michele Pascolini's artistic and sculptural background. The design transforms the briar into a dynamic and harmonious form, revealing the maker's distinctive creative vision.

A Bisonte pipe that interprets the contemporary Freehand tradition through expressive lines, meticulous handcraftsmanship, and a strong artistic identity.
