Radice Silk Cut Pipe: The Compact Elegance of the Classic Line

Handcrafted entirely by Marzio and Gianluca Radice, this artisanal pipe embodies an ideal of understated elegance. The model offers a classic shape reinterpreted in a short and compact key—a design choice intended to provide a lightweight, balanced piece that is easy to carry, without ever sacrificing the pleasure of a satisfying smoke. It is a handcrafted interpretation of a timeless silhouette, capable of expressing a style that never grows old.

Aesthetics, Finish, and Fine Details

The pipe belongs to the Silk Cut classification:

- The Sandblasting: The briar undergoes a fine and elegant sandblasted finish that is "silky" to the touch. This process beautifully highlights the natural grain pattern of the wood.
- The Color: A warm red coloration enhances the grain brought out by the sandblasting, giving the piece brightness and a classic yet distinctive character.
- The Shank and Stem: The design is finished with a shank whose sides have been rendered slightly flat. The stem, made of polished black acrylic, is a tapered (conical) type, shaped to ensure maximum comfort and excellent resistance to the wear of time.

Bowl Geometry and Technical Features

Despite its compact and contained external proportions, the pipe features a fairly capacious bowl, capable of holding a generous amount of tobacco for medium-length smoking sessions.

The internal drilling of the chamber is cylindrical and tapers into a slightly conical geometry at the bottom.
