Valbruna Sandblasted Semi-Bent Egg/Chimney Pipe with Bark Top - Artisan Simone Gaudenzi

This Valbruna sandblasted semi-bent pipe is an Italian handmade creation crafted by Simone Gaudenzi, master pipe maker from Gabicce Mare. The Valbruna brand draws inspiration from the ancient legend of the same locality, evoking a connection between tradition, territory, and briar craftsmanship—elements that define the identity of its production.

The model features a medium-large Egg/Chimney shape, characterized by elegant and well-balanced proportions. The semi-bent line provides smoking comfort and a natural grip, while the taller bowl recalls the typical geometry of Chimney shapes, reinterpreted with softer stylistic lines.

The sandblasted finish enhances the briar's natural texture, highlighting its grain structure while offering a pleasant tactile feel. The Bark Top on the rim preserves a portion of the briar's natural outer surface, creating a subtle and refined material contrast.

The tobacco chamber is generously sized, with a slightly conical drilling toward the bottom, a design that supports a more even tobacco combustion and improved airflow management.

Completing the pipe is a black acrylic saddle stem with fishtail bit, designed to provide comfort in the mouth and a smooth transition with the shank.

This pipe stands as an example of contemporary Italian craftsmanship, where freeform design, functionality, and aesthetic research coexist in a harmonious balance.
