Nicola Pirocco Handcrafted Pipe | Straight "Army" Smooth Natural Dublin

In the landscape of Italian manufacturing, there emerge artisans capable of expressing a deep connection with their territory and an absolute dedication to the raw material. This handcrafted pipe, entirely made by hand in Casalbordino, Abruzzo, by Nicola Pirocco, represents a wonderful example of expressive purity and geometric rigor, designed for smokers who appreciate the natural evolution of wood.

The Army Style and Compact Proportions

The model is developed on the classic and slender Dublin silhouette, interpreted in a straight Army variation with compact dimensions. The "Army" (or military) mount gives the pipe a distinct structural robustness. Thanks to its compact proportions, this piece proves to be exceptionally lightweight and balanced, ideal both for being enjoyed in total relaxation or as a travel pipe.

The Purity of Natural Briar and Ingenious Details

The true hallmark of this work by Nicola Pirocco lies in the choice of finish and the chromatic combination of materials:

- The Natural Briar: The surface of the pipe is clean and left completely natural, free of stains or dyes. This choice enhances the native grain of the block and will allow the briar, over time and smoke after smoke, to develop a unique patina, darkening in a highly personal way.
- The Flat Rim: The upper edge of the bowl (rim) is left flat and polished.
- The Acrylic Extension and Cumberland Stem: The shank ends with an acrylic extension (oliva). Onto it fits a cumberland stem, handcrafted from a solid rod.

Internal Architecture and Smoking Performance

- The Bowl and Slightly Conical Drilling: The combustion chamber features a medium/small capacity, perfect for daily smoking sessions or for savoring fine blends without an excessive time commitment. The slightly conical drilling follows the natural geometry of the Dublin head.

This creation signed by Nicola Pirocco is a choice of absolute prominence for the enthusiast seeking an authentic pipe, free of aesthetic artifices and equipped with rigorous internal mechanics, an expression of modern Abruzzese craftsmanship.
