Radice Rind Pipe: The Excellence of the Italian Rusticated Billiard

The Radice Rind pipe represents a perfect blend of the great briar-manufacturing tradition of Brianza and outstanding everyday functionality. This model, characterized by the classic straight Billiard shape, stands out for its compactness and medium-sized proportions that make it extremely balanced, both when held in the hand and when clenched between the teeth.

The Rind classification marks one of the Radice brand's most famous finishes: a deep, uniform, and well-defined rustication, executed entirely by hand. This particular texture is not only an aesthetic element of great character but also serves an important practical function, increasing the heat-dissipating surface area to ensure a cooler smoke and a firm, pleasant grip.

Technical Characteristics and Premium Details

- Design and Geometry: Medium-sized straight Billiard model, featuring a compact, understated, and elegant design.
- Bowl and Walls: The medium-capacity bowl features a regular cylindrical chamber that promotes even tobacco combustion. The walls of the bowl are particularly robust, ideal for optimally tolerating heat.
- Mouthpiece: Made of high-quality black acrylic, a material that retains its luster over time without oxidizing. The profile is tapered with a standard lip, designed to ensure a linear airflow and optimal comfort.

Who is this pipe for?

The Radice Rind Billiard is highly recommended even for beginners who wish to approach pipe smoking with a reliable, technical instrument that is forgiving of minor initial puffing mistakes.

At the same time, the undisputed craftsmanship of the Radice family makes it an essential addition to the collection of the experienced smoker seeking a robust, efficient everyday pipe rich in Italian artisanal character.

Note of distinction: Every Radice pipe is a unique piece, the result of artisanal knowledge handed down with dedication. The subtle variations in the rustication bear witness to the authenticity and originality of each individual specimen.
