Radice Rind G Pipe: The Excellence of the Italian Rusticated Billiard (Stamped 46)

The Radice Rind G pipe represents an extraordinary expression of the historic artisanal manufacturing of Brianza, combining a solid construction tradition with excellent functionality. This model fits into the classic straight Billiard shape, presented here in a medium/large-sized variant (G group). Despite its generous proportions, the pipe maintains a compact structure and an impeccable balance, which eases both its hold in the hand and its clench.

The Rind classification identifies one of the most famous and appreciated finishes of the Radice brand: a deep, uniform, and well-defined rustication, entirely executed by hand. This workmanship is not only an aesthetic choice of strong personality, but it also fulfills a precise technical function: it increases the external surface area of the bowl, facilitating heat dissipation to ensure a pleasantly cool smoke and a secure grip.

The "46" stamping certifies the year of production: 2026, the forty-sixth year since the beginning of the Radice brand's independent production.

Technical Characteristics and Construction Details

- Design and Dimensions: Medium/large-sized straight Billiard model (Group G). A classic, compact, and proportioned silhouette.
- Bowl and Walls: The bowl is capacious and generous, characterized by a regular cylindrical chamber that ensures a constant combustion of the tobacco. The walls of the bowl are particularly robust and thick, designed to optimally tolerate heat and preserve the integrity of the briar over time.
- Mouthpiece: Made of high-quality black acrylic, a material that maintains its natural luster unaltered and is not subject to oxidation. The profile is tapered.

Who is this pipe recommended for?

The combination of a generous bowl and robust walls makes the Radice Rind G an ideal choice for those who love to indulge in long, relaxed smokes.
