Alinetu Handmade Italian Pipe - Straight Canadian in Sandblasted Briar

A handmade Italian pipe from the Alinetu brand, crafted by Daniele Carbini in the beautiful setting of Sardinia. This model offers a handcrafted interpretation of the classic Canadian shape, characterized by its slender lines and the balanced relationship between the bowl and the long shank.

The pipe is straight and medium-sized, with a restrained and well-proportioned construction. The bowl features a Brandy shape, while the long, oval-section shank accentuates the distinctive character of the Canadian and defines its elegant silhouette.

The briar is sandblasted, a finish that highlights the natural structure of the wood and gives the surface considerable tactile depth. The rim of the bowl is left smooth, incorporating an easy-load design.

The chamber is generous in capacity and cylindrically drilled, completing a construction designed to accommodate a substantial smoking session while maintaining the pipe's balanced proportions.

The stem is made from ebonite directly pulled from the bar, a material traditionally appreciated in handmade pipe making for its workability and for the precise, clean lines it allows the pipemaker to achieve. The connection between the stem and shank is finished with a horn ring, a natural material that adds another distinctive element to the composition.

This Alinetu Canadian by Daniele Carbini reflects an approach to Italian pipe making based on balanced proportions, the natural qualities of briar and careful attention to construction details. The Canadian shape, sandblasted finish with a smooth easy-load rim, long oval shank and horn ring come together in a coherent design in which traditional pipe making meets the pipemaker's personal interpretation.
