The Chacom Morta pipe is a captivating creation crafted from ancient bog oak (morta), a semi-fossilized timber revered for its unique smoking qualities. Designed with a perfectly balanced bent silhouette, it stands out for its light sandblasted finish, a delicate surface treatment that reveals the wood's intricate mineral texture in warm, natural tones rather than traditional black. Natural bog oak offers exceptional heat tolerance, delivering a remarkably dry, neutral-tasting smoke right from the very first bowl. Connecting the shank to the curved black acrylic mouthpiece is a sleek metal band, introducing a bright contemporary contrast against the tactile fossil wood. An extraordinary piece of artisan pipemaking.
