Ser Jacopo R1 - Rusticated Bent Bulldog Pipe

Handcrafted Ser Jacopo R1 Pipe – Rusticated Bent Bulldog

This handcrafted Italian pipe by Ser Jacopo, crafted in the historic manufacture of Pesaro, belongs to the R1 grade and presents a refined artisan interpretation of the classic Bulldog shape.

The piece features a medium-sized bent structure in which the characteristic geometric elements of the Bulldog are reinterpreted through precise, well-proportioned craftsmanship. The result is a pipe with a defined personality, faithful to traditional design while displaying Ser Jacopo's distinctive styling.

Shape and Briar Craftsmanship

The Bulldog shape is instantly recognizable by the geometry of its bowl and the crisp lines that set it apart from softer, rounded profiles. In this model, the bent geometry smoothly accompanies the bowl's profile, while the diamond-section shank further highlights its structured character.

The surface features a deep rustication that endows the briar with a pronounced three-dimensional texture and a tactile feel. This finish emphasizes the handcrafted nature of the piece and sharply defines the volumes of the shape.

Tobacco Chamber and Construction Details

The bowl offers a medium capacity, well-suited for balanced smoking sessions. The chamber is drilled with a slight taper near the bottom, a structural design that complements the internal geometry toward the draft hole.

The overall proportions of the bowl and shank maintain an excellent balance of volumes, respecting the classic architecture of the Bulldog while showcasing Pesaro's artisan touch.

Mouthpiece and Details

The stem is crafted from durable acrylic and features the signature silver “J” inlaid on the top—the iconic emblem of Ser Jacopo craftsmanship.

This subtle silver detail introduces a discreet contrast against the acrylic stem, completing the pipe's construction without disrupting its classical aesthetic.

A Reinterpretation of the Classic Bulldog

Overall, this Ser Jacopo R1 Bent Bulldog represents a successful artisan take on a timeless shape. The bent profile, diamond shank, deep rustication, and silver logo inlay integrate seamlessly into a cohesive design that honors tradition through the unique lens of the Pesaro manufacture.
