A fully handcrafted pipe made in Liguria, Italy, by Francesco Ganci, Master of the Accademia della Pipa. This piece interprets the classic Apple Chubby shape with well-balanced proportions: although medium-sized, its compact and substantial architecture provides exceptional ergonomics and a warm, pleasing tactile feel in the hand.

Key Features

Grain and Finish:

The pipe features a natural smooth finish that allows the briar's grain to emerge in all its purity. A regular flame grain elegantly embraces the entire bowl, while a crisp and dense birdseye pattern stands out prominently on the underside of the bowl.

Stem and Details:

Made from fine Cumberland ebonite, with its distinctive variegated hues, the stem is finished with a fishtail button designed to provide a comfortable position between the teeth. The junction between shank and stem is enhanced by a refined galalith accent ring, which provides an elegant contrast to the warm tones of the briar.

Bowl Chamber:

The tobacco chamber offers a medium capacity and features a slightly tapered drilling towards the bottom.
