The Ser Jacopo Brand: The Tradition and Creativity of Pesaro Craftsmanship

The history of Ser Jacopo is rooted in the vision and talent of Giancarlo Guidi. Born in Pesaro, Guidi developed a passion for pipe making alongside his studies in applied arts at the Istituto d'Arte Mengaroni. Before helping establish Mastro de Paja in 1971, he gained invaluable experience working with ceramic manufacturers in the Marche region and at some of Italy's historic workshops.

In the early 1980s, the Ser Jacopo dalla Gemma brand was born, its name inspired by the portrait of a Renaissance nobleman. Guidi went on to establish what would become the celebrated "School of Pesaro," an international benchmark for fine pipe craftsmanship. This tradition emphasizes the natural grain patterns of briar while introducing innovative shapes and finishes.

Today, the workshop continues its journey under the guidance of Maurizio Fraternale, a former business partner of Guidi, preserving the brand's stylistic continuity, rigorous production standards, and unmistakable identity. These qualities make every Ser Jacopo pipe a sought-after piece among pipe smokers and collectors around the world.

Why Choose the Ser Jacopo Delecta S2 C?

Smoking Performance: The geometry of the Bulldog shape, combined with the slightly tapered draft hole at the bottom of the bowl, promotes an even burn and balanced airflow.

Ergonomics and Comfort: The medium size and curved stem provide a comfortable grip and a pleasant fit between the teeth.

Artistic Silverwork: The substantial, finely crafted silver mounts enhance the transition between the shank and the stem, lending the pipe an aristocratic and distinctive character.
