Classic Geometry and Smoking Performance

The 4103 model code identifies a medium-sized pipe (Group 4), designed according to the canonical proportions of the Billiard shape: a perfectly vertical cylindrical bowl and a straight shank of comparable length. This geometry ensures natural weight distribution and a smooth, unrestricted draw.

Deep Sandblasting and Smooth Rim

The deep sandblasting gives the bowl a pronounced, tactile texture that feels pleasant to the touch and helps dissipate heat efficiently. In contrast, the smooth, flat rim highlights the upper section of the bowl, creating a clean visual transition between the finishes while making tobacco packing easier.

Cylindrical Bore

The medium-capacity tobacco chamber features a precisely executed cylindrical bore, ensuring a consistent airflow.

Ergonomic Comfort and Versatile Use

Thanks to its practical, lightweight construction, the Dunhill Cumberland 4103 is particularly comfortable to hold between the lips without placing undue strain on the jaw. The tapered Cumberland stem, finished with a subtly flared fishtail-style button, provides a comfortable fit between the teeth.

Its straightforward smoking characteristics, ease of cleaning, and well-balanced proportions make this model an excellent choice both for those wishing to begin pipe smoking with a high-quality instrument and for collectors seeking a classic all-day pipe.
